

On February 1, 2016, Makola M. Abdullae, Ph.D. became the 14th President of Virginia State University (VSU). In his remarks during his introduction to the Trojan family, President Abdullae outlined his four core beliefs: I believe in God. I believe in family. I believe in the transformative nature of education. I believe in Virginia State University.

President Abdullae also emphasized several focus areas to sustain VSU as an 1890 Land-Grant University. The areas of focus include providing a transformative experience for students, strategically investing in academic programs, partnering with others as a university to tell the VSU story, embracing the University's Land Grant Mission and embracing VSU's role as Virginia's Opportunity University President Abdullae is an academic administrator committed to excellence. He is also an internationally-renowned educator recognized for outstanding research.

- Dr. Abdullae is an active member with various organizations having served as:
- Association of Public Land Grant (APLU) Universities; Chair, Council of 1890s Presidents)
- Southern Assoc. of Colleges Schools Commission on College; Vice Chair, Board of Trustees
